

Last Second Left Turn Becomes a Lifetime Memory!

How an unintended detour became a trip to the “Good Old Days”

You’ve seen it. You’ve tasted it. A world full of “theme” restaurants and “formula” menus. It seems like the only way to find a taste of the good old days is if you have a time machine.

Do you remember when restaurants were unique? You know, the place you’d go to when you were growing up that you still remember. Maybe they had the best hamburger anywhere. Or the best pie you’ve ever tasted. And it wasn’t just a claim, because it really was the best?

Well I believe that good deeds come back to us, so I’m about to tell YOU a story about how I found out that there’s still a little gem like that left in the world:

“Turn left!” my wife yelled so late into the intersection that, had there been a policeman nearby after my maneuver, I’d have been “meeting” one of the locals. Driving through a small rural town in Texas, she saw an antique shop that she just “had to see”.

After the pain from my pulled shoulder muscle cleared (and we wiped up the sodas the children used to have in their laps), we got out of our van in front of the “antique shop”... only to discover something else entirely.

The sign, “Tea-Licious – the little tearoom on Burnet’s historic square” was something of an enigma, to say the least.

A tearoom, in the rough and tumble historic old west of rural Texas? Well, we were hungry... but a tearoom would only have finger sandwiches and pastries, right? But, not seeing anything else, curiosity (and hunger) got the better of us and...

We Stepped Into a Bygone Era!!

Imagine your surprise if you experienced what we did:

You’re greeted with warmth and courtesy just like you used to get in the good old days, and you’re seated and presented with menus -- not full of finger sandwiches and pastries -- but real meals, salads, and even “kids” food!

Then your trip through time becomes more real as the truly unique, “signature” items start arriving. Things like you used to get in restaurants – the things that end up being the best you’ve ever tasted – and things that you could only get here. Delicious items made from real generations-old family recipes like

- ❖ Home brewed, real peach tea
- ❖ Home made “gourmet” sweet pickles (a great appetizer!)
- ❖ Home made soups
- ❖ Fresh baked, home made quiche

Not to mention the most amazing hamburger you’ll ever taste (they soak it in au jus, cook it to order and serve it on a home made bun).

They even have home made corndogs for the kids!

Of course, you’ll all eagerly sample each others foods, and not one of you will find one thing you don’t like... including the kids!!

So if you’re tired of restaurant chains, with so-so food that looks and tastes like every other restaurant chain...

GET TO “TEA-LICIOUS”!!

Matter of fact, give ‘em a call if you do, they’ll give you directions so you won’t have to make that last second left turn! Oh – one more thing – be sure to leave room for pie, and a side of nostalgia.
